

UNLAWFUL,

UNREALISTIC,

UNACHIEVABLE.

On May 9 this year, the EPA issued a new rule limiting CO₂ emissions for existing coal and new natural gas plants, unless the facilities curtail operations or shut down.

While co-ops take pride in being environmental stewards, our members should not have to choose between decarbonization and electric reliability. The new rule is unlawful, unachievable, and unrealistic.

Let's work together to fight this; you and your family can help. Visit Voices for Cooperative Power and send a pre-written letter to your representatives.
